

Waldemar Roundup

Fall 2004

End-of-Camp Festivities Shortened

Schedule More Efficient for Sunday Travel Home

2005 will mark a return to Waldemar's more traditional style of end-of-camp festivities with an evening family picnic preceding our final program on Saturday night. This will enable families to have a full day on Sunday for safe travels home. We are excited about the new schedule and have worked diligently to make a more efficient visit for our patrons without compromising any of the activities so each camper can still show off all they have learned during the term.

With the new end-of-camp schedule, patrons will be invited to come in on Friday at 4 p.m. (40 minutes earlier than in the past) and will be treated to many of the demonstrations historically seen on Sunday mornings, including the horseback demonstrations, trickroping, cheerleading, dance, crafts, etc. Following will be Canoe Drill and the Ideal Girl Program along with each tribe's final tribal hill.

Saturday morning will start Field Day bright and early at 7:30 a.m. The Saturday morning events will proceed as usual with the exception being around noon when campers will be treated to lunch in the dining hall. Patrons are welcome to bring a picnic lunch, visit a food kiosk provided for families in the parking areas, or head back into town to eat in Hunt, Ingram, or Kerrville. Then pier events will begin after lunch around 3 p.m.

As soon as the pier events conclude, families will be treated to an outdoor picnic dinner on campgrounds and then ushered into Ora Johnson Theater for the final awards program, which will conclude around 8 p.m.

Hilltopper parents will be allowed to come on Wednesday night for Sr. Drama and again on Thursday and Friday just as in years past.

We hope everyone will enjoy the new schedule!

Letter from the Director:

Waldemar Celebrates its 80th Summer of Camping!

The other day a lady came into the office, driven to Waldemar by her cousins, and wanted to see the camp one more time. She had attended Waldemar in 1935-1936 and shared stories of her camp days with Liz and me. She recounted being woken up at 6:30 a.m. each morning, putting on her wool bathing suit and walking down to the river for the early morning swim before breakfast. She was a Tejas at a time when there were only two tribes.

She and her cousins walked across the athletic field to see if the waterfront had changed, and while they walked across, we played the bugle. She turned around with the biggest smile on her face and clapped as she heard the familiar tune.

Before she was driven back to the nursing home in Houston, she came back in the office and together we sang the Ideal Girl song. We both had tears in our eyes as she left.

A lot has changed around Waldemar as we approach our 80th year in camping. Gone are the days of wool bathing suits, picking up rocks as a service point, monkey drill and "the woodies." But in their place we have established new traditions such as Polocrosse, Las Brisas, delivering mail as a service point and all styles and colors of flipflops!

But through this former camper, I'm reminded of the fact that though we continue to improve camp programming in order to

Remembering a Waldemar Star

Geanne Jeffery worked at Waldemar 18 years.

Throughout Waldemar's nearly 80 years, countless exceptional, dedicated women have generously given their time and talents to the camp in order to develop, build, and perpetuate the ideals of Waldemar. In 2004, we were sad to lose Geanne Jeffrey, a shining star in the Waldemar history books.

Geane's Waldemar experience began early in her life as one of Waldemar's first campers. She holds the distinction of being one of the few meet the changing needs, interests, and trends of young girls today, the true Waldemar spirit and heritage will always live on. Memories of bugles, swimming in the Guadalupe, singing the Ideal Girl song and so much more are alive in campers of all ages.

Thanks to you, our extended family, for helping to preserve this setting of excellence Miss Ora Johnson envisioned some eight de-ten-year campers, and this will forever be recorded in the Waldemar bible. She was always an outstanding student, and indeed, she learned the sport of trickroping from the master himself, Johnny Regan. After Johnny's death, Geane committed herself to continuing this unique tradition at Waldemar by teaching trickroping to hundreds of campers during her 18 years as a counselor.

Geane's love for aquatics is another aspect of her life that will always be associated with Waldemar. Even until her final year at camp, Geane directed the Red Cross lifeguard training class for our waterfront department. In addition, Geane taught synchronized swimming, and as a result of its popularity, her classes became a favorite exhibition on Second Field Day. Also, Geane shared her knowledge and love of the game of bridge with many of our campers as well.

Geane died on February 24 of this year. She is greatly missed by her family both at home and here at camp.

Outstanding Accomplishments

46-year Waldemar counselor staff veteran Joyce Jordan was honored by the Captain Shreve High School PTA in September by being inducted into the 2004 Circle of Honor. This group recognized Joyce for her devoted hours of service and support to Captain Shreve, the local community of Shreveport, La., and the betterment of humankind. The honor was bestowed during an awards dinner on Sept. 23, and festivities continued with special recognition during half time of the Homecoming football game on Sept. 24. Joyce's teaching career began 47 years ago – shortly before she began spending summers at Waldemar – with teaching physical education and biology and coaching volleyball and basketball. She moved to Shreveport in 1961. She taught at Captain Shreve from 1970 until her retirement in 2002. In her spare time she volunteers at her Church, works in her rose garden, and enjoys traveling. At Waldemar she has served in a number of roles, most recently as Program and Activities Chair and an Aztec sponsor for First Term. Congratulations, Joyce!

Former campers Caroline Chandler of Virginia Beach, Va., and Allison McNabb of Austin, Texas, have been selected as Duchesses for the 2004 Texas Rose Festival in Tyler, Texas. Caroline and Allison attended Waldemar Second Term from 1994-2001 and were both Aztecs. Caroline will serve as the Duchess of the Old Dominion and Allison will serve as Duchess of West Lake Hills. Caroline is a sophomore at Southern Methodist University and Allison is a sophomore at the University of Alabama.

Phillip Swatek, husband of First Term Comanche Margaret Harris Swatek (1934-37), has published a book, The Pontotoc Conspiracy. It is a historical novel about the infamous hanging in Ada, Okla., in 1909, an event that created national attention at the time. This book is of particular interest to Texans and Oklahomans because it involves characters from both states.

Former Tejas Sterling Hyltin danced her first solo with the New York City Ballet in Sleeping Beauty.

Liza Beth Grozinger, a former Second Term Comanche reigned as Queen of the Holiday in Dixie Festival in Shreveport. Megan Waller (Second Term Tejas) and Mary Catherine Clemons (Second Term Aztec) served as ladies of the court.

Waldemar camper Rosalind Jenkins a Second Term Comanche had the opportunity to visit Viet Nam this past year.

First Term Comanche Mary Hairston excelled in soccer, cross country, and basketball throughout the year. Her sister First Term Aztec Emily also excelled in school sports winning a starting role on the 7th grade football team and kicking a 43-yard field goal, placing in all the cross country races in which she competed, and helping her teams in both soccer and basketball. Both girls also continue to make the honor role at school.

Former Second Term Aztec (1995-2000) Arabella Montgomery was chosen as an Ole Miss Baseball Diamond girl at the University of Mississippi. She is a junior education major and a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She returned to Waldemar as a counselor and sponsor in 2004.

campers: Tejas Ashley Shannon, Tejas Catherine Birdwell, Comanche Caroline Hoffman, Aztec Claire Brunner, Tejas Jessica Blake, Comanche Courtney Scarbrough, Tejas Claire Howard, and Comanche Sara Kell Bowers.

Former First Term Aztec (1996-2003) Grace Clawwater won the Texas Hunter Jumper Championship in Equitation for 2003. Her sister, former First Term Aztec (1996-2001) Jean Rose made the Varsity Equitation team at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va.

Former campers Susanna Knouse, Caroline Harper, Becky Andrews, and Kirby Thornton were presented on October 25, 2003, as Steeplechase Debutantes in Fort Worth. Susanna Gorski was presented as an Assembly Debutante on Nov. 1.

First Term Comanche Rachel Holliday was selected to perform as a "dessert plate" in her school's Beauty and the Beast production of "Disney Magic." She was also in the Aladdin and Under the Sea numbers.

Waldemar Skills Last a Lifetime

At least they have for Linda Ellerbee (a Comanche camper in the 1950s). While attending camp, Linda started writing for the War Whoop. Her ensuing love for journalism continued to support and sustain her through the years and has landed her in her current role as producer and host of Nick News where she gets to relive her camp days by listening to and spending time with girls ages 8-14. She says lessons like how to paddle a canoe, saddle a horse, live with others, be scared of something yet try it anyway, build competence from confidence and vice versa, and how to sit still enough to hear the music of the hills – all valuable experiences she learned from camp – have formed her life as it is today.

At Camp, Some Things Never Change

And if you read this letter written by a Waldemar camper in the 1950s, you'll believe it. Sounds like the excitement of Carnival, friends from home trying to encourage campers to break the honor code, and cute boys at the dance have been around a while!

Be Nice to Your Bus Rep!

Hey campers, you should always be nice to your rep and your bus chaperone. Just ask Ann Jarrell, Short Term camper Miranda and First Term Aztec Minette Morgan's grandmother. Little did she know all those years she attended Waldemar during the 1950s that her Monroe, La., rep and bus chaperone would become her future mother-in-law! You never know whom you might meet while attending Waldemar ... maybe your future husband!

Your Camp Application Questions Answered

Parents of new campers often have a number of questions regarding how and when to sign their daughters up for camp. We have taken the most popular of these questions and answered them here; more questions and answers are available on-line.

Q: How does your application process work?

A: We accept new and future camper applications year round. There are separate applications for the short term and long term camp and both require a non-refundable $50 processing fee. Each year we invite our returning campers back to attend first. Then based on application date, geographic region, and age group availability, we continue to invite new campers from our waiting list.

Q: How can I ensure my daughter will get in when I want her to?

A: Unfortunately, there is no guarantee for this. However, the earlier you return her application, the better her chances of getting an invitation in the first year you would like for her to attend. Also, because we aim to keep strong diversity in the hometowns of girls who attend, girls from more rural areas often have a better chance of being invited even if their applications were turned in at a later point than girls from more popular urban areas.

Q: How soon do I need to put my daughter on the camper waiting list?

A: Again, there is no set answer to this question. For girls who are from more populated, urban areas (such as Dallas or Houston) and who want to attend long term for the first time when they are either entering 4th or 5th grade, it is more important that their applications be submitted at a very early age to better their chances of an invitation for those years. The later they apply, the later it may be before they get a chance to attend.

Q: Does short term attendance guarantee long term attendance?

A: No. The two are run as separate camps. Therefore, if you are interested in having your daughter attend both, you would be wise to go ahead and submit both applications to better your chances for a long term invitation in the first year you want her to attend.

Q: If my child does not get into long term when she is in 4th or 5th grade, can she still attend short term?

A: Yes, we recommend you accept the short term invitation first to hold a spot at camp in case your daughter doesn't get a long term invitation. However, if she later secures a spot in long term, then the deposit you paid for short term will be applied.

Q: What does the application fee cover?

A: It is a processing fee for entering your camper's information into our system and holding her spot on the waiting list. It is non-refundable.

Q: Does being a legacy improve my daughters chances of getting an invitation?

A: The benefit of being a legacy is the knowledge to sign up early.

Q: When do new camper invitations get sent?

A: After we have placed all of our returning campers, we send out new camper invitations. This is usually done by the end of November.

From the Horse's Mouth:

by Liz Pohl

Hello from the Waldemar Stables! The horses are enjoying a beautiful fall.

We held our first Waldemar Polocrosse Clinic during the first week of October. There was a great turnout including: Adair Ewin, Frances Hinkle, Lauren Marsh, Catherine Murphy, Kristen Nelson, Francesca Ross and Catherine Stumberg. We also had a few APA members including Robert and Sam Pohl. The clinicians were Catherine Pickens, Rachel Meriwether, Greg Russell, Prissy Rumel and myself.

Everyone arrived Friday evening; we braided tails, wrapped legs, and practiced Polocrosse all day Saturday, and ended the day with a wonderful dinner by Chef Johnny and s'mores around a campfire. Sunday was back to the Polocrosse field for chukkas. We had such a tremendous response that we are planning another clinic in the spring!

Also keeping us busy this fall are visits from First Term Aztec Catherine Stumberg who comes every week for riding lessons with Catherine.

We have a few new horse leads and are hoping we will be able to add them to our herd for next summer. I hope everyone has a wonderful holiday season and look forward to seeing you all in 2005!

2005 Camp Terms Bring Many New Classes

During our nearly 80-year history, Waldemar has developed a varied and exciting curriculum for campers to experience numerous types of activities – everything from the arts to competitive sports. We continue to preserve the esteem of Waldemar with such traditional favorites as fencing, charm, riflery, trickroping, English and Western riding, etc., but are always looking for ways to introduce new and exciting programming options for our campers to truly broaden their skills and interests.

This year we are proud to be adding the following classes:

- GARDENING for those having or wanting to have a green thumb,
- COOKING which was actually offered in 2004 but in 2005 Chef Johnny has invited campers into his kitchen to get a glimpse of how to create some of Waldemar's culinary favorites, and
- CARDS AND BOARD GAMES which will teach kids tried and true favorites of many generations such as bridge, gin, jenga, etc.

If you have an idea for a new class you would like to see offered, please send it our way! We love gathering new suggestions each year!

“Talk Camp” Comes to Waldemar

Camper Radio Station to Hit the Airwaves in 2005

The radio station call letters are still yet to be determined so

Hammers and Nails

During the off-season, Waldemar stays busy with campground improvements so we can continue our tradition of a setting of excellence. When you join us next summer, you will see a number of improvements around camp. For example, we are doing routine repairs and maintenance on kampong roofs, giving the Comanche war canoe a much-needed facelift, and planting new trees around camp.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!!!

With the work being done on Big Ben, we began trying to find out where Ben got its name. Do any of you ex-campers (or camp mothers/grandmothers) know the history of Big Ben? If so, we want to know. Please call or email your answer to us!

Waldemar Divas Enjoy a Week of Rejuvenation and Relaxation ... Waldemar-Style!

More than 120 women journeyed to camp September 22-26, to celebrate being a great woman during our 25th annual Waldemar Women's Week festivities. This year's group of Waldemar divas spent the week learning to express themselves physically, mentally, spiritually, and perhaps most telling, emotionally, by learning new skills, practicing old favorites, meeting new friends and reacquainting with long-time pals. The many women who continue to return to WWW year after year have helped each other through many stages in life thanks to the environment of love and caring developed by WWW attendees.

This year's activities included horseback riding and breakfast trails, canoe trips, archery, chorus, dancing, yoga, crafts, and water aerobics, just to name a few! The professional programs included sessions on self-defense with our very own Morris Arredondo, personal training by Cathy Ermis, plastic surgery with Dr. Steve Davidson, and communication skills with Jodi Potts. And just to indulge, there was shopping in Rippling Waters and spa services available.

And who said the week was just for women, even Teak Elmore found himself to be a participant in many of the week's events in everything from guiding a group kayaking trip, to teaching glass art and digital photography classes, and overseeing the rebuilding of the Playhouse into a Luau Bamboo Hut one day, and the Alamo another day!

At night our divas continued the party dressing in pink, sporting costumes, and enjoying themselves at several themed events well into the evening hours.

Many thanks to the hard-working Waldemar staff who continue to go above and beyond the call of duty to make WWW yet another success!
